DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-6 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Ito et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 6,392,390) teaches a transformer inrush current elimination system for suppressing an inrush current that is generated as a transition current when a three-phase transformer is connected to a three-phase power supply via a three-phase circuit breaker, comprising: source voltage measuring means for measuring a source voltage of one phase to be used as a standard phase among the three-phases supply; transformer voltage measuring means for measuring a transformer voltage of each of the three-phases; a residual flux calculating portion a residual flux of each phase using the transformer voltage of each phase measured by said transformer voltage measuring means before and after a opening command input time; but does not teach or render obvious a target closing phase determining portion for determining target closing phases of the three phases, wherein, regarding the first closing phase, said target closing phase determining portion calculates a closing phase having smallest energization flux error which is an absolute value of the maximum error between a constant flux value and a residual flux value at a connection input point, based upon the residual flux of the first closing phase, and a preliminarily given pre-arc characteristic and closing time deviation characteristic of the three-phase circuit breaker, using a zero degree phase of the standard phase as a reference point, and sets the closing phase so calculated as the target closing phase of the first closing phase. At least these further limitations to claims 1, 2 and 3 are not taught or rendered obvious by the prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Lerstrup (U.S. Pat. No. 2,551,022) teaches a similar switching 3-phase system for inrush current protection.
